DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1 & 3-6, drawn to a gaming machine with a game result display device comprising a first and second display device, wherein the first display device includes a plurality of reels with symbols displayed on each. A beneficial state is generated on the game result display device based on a specific game result. Synthesizing a plurality of images based on a priority order generates the image on the second display. The second display device is a multilayer liquid crystal display that comprises a liquid crystal panel, a light guide device, an illumination device, and a reflection device constructed of a reflection film, classified in class 463, subclass 30.
- II. Claims 8-11, drawn a gaming machine with a game result display device comprising a first and second display device, wherein the first display device includes a plurality of reels with symbols displayed on each. A beneficial state is generated on the game result display device based on a specific game result. An image displayed on the second display is generated by synthesizing a split images based on a priority order, wherein a split image has a higher priority order than another image, and the images are superimposed on each other based on the priority order, classified in class 463, subclass 31.

Inventions of Groups 1 and 2 are related as combination (Group 2) and subcombination (Group 1). Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination is drawn to a gaming machine with a game result display device comprising a first and second display device, wherein the first display device includes a plurality of reels with symbols displayed on each. A beneficial state is generated on the game result display device based on a specific game result. And an image displayed on the second display is generated by synthesizing a split images based on a priority order, wherein a split image has a higher priority order than another image, and the images are superimposed on each other based on the priority order. The subcombination has separate utility such as the second display device is constructed from a liquid crystal display device including a liquid crystal panel, a light guide device arranged at a rear side of the liquid crystal panel, an illumination device for generating light which is guided to the light guide device and a reflection device for reflecting light guided to the light guide device toward the liquid crystal panel arranged in front of the light guide device.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter and require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

The examiner has required restriction between combination and subcombination inventions. Where applicant elects a subcombination, and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.
